Diana, Lady Mosley, born Diana Freeman-Mitford and usually known as Diana Mitford, was one of Britain's noted Mitford sisters. She was married firstly to Bryan Walter Guinness, heir to the barony of Moyne, and secondly to Sir Oswald Mosley, 6th Baronet, of Ancoats, leader of the British Union of Fascists. Her second marriage, in 1936, took place at the home of Joseph Goebbels, with Adolf Hitler as guest of honour. Subsequently her involvement with right-wing political causes resulted in three

the FOR A NEW AWAKENING IN THE 21st CENTURY BLACKSHIRT

The national existence of Britain is being attacked from within in a manner infinitely more deadly than any attack from without.

Camouflaged as internationalism, anti-Britishness aims at destroying our national life by destroying our national consciousness. Its malignant hostility may be seen in continual suggestions that the Union Flag should be forbidden to fly in some areas as being provocative. In no other land could such an insult be offered to the national flag. Not alone in Socialist-Green, but Conservative and Liberal circles have these suggestions appeared, showing how the leprosy of anti-Britishness has infected all parties in the State.

What is the matter with us? How is it that people whose heroism flamed with such deathless splendor in two world wars has collapsed in cowardice before such human refuse as Liberals, cultural Marxists, Champagne socialists and their political correctness? Those who cannot see the connection between the present artificial degradation of our land and its widespread unemployment, between moral and material weakness must be blind.

The reason such degradation is here is because, smothered in the mire of internationalism this country's sense of national consciousness is being eroded. just as a junkie, losing their own self-respect, loses the only thing in life that can save them, so British national self-respect lies drowned in a sea of internationalism. Since the wars we have lost our souls. In no other unconquered land is alien hostility so arrogant, and in our failure to resist is the secret of our loss.

Nothing in the life of any people is so degrading in its effect on national character as tame submission to alien insult and brutality.

In the midnight of patriotism there is now signs of returning national consciousness. The return of British Fascism will raise again our national honour from the filth and insult in which it lies bleeding today. That patriotism which internationalists, Marxists and Liberals deride, loath, hate and fear, Fascism is determined to revive, uniting the right is the first step, this is why the usual suspects from both far left and right have once again began to attack us with old lies and misinformation. As patriots continue to flock to our banner so our enemies and the enemies of Britain will increase their propaganda against us, proof, if proof was needed, that we are 'over the target'.

LAW, AUTHORITY AND PROSPERITY

Since the time of the French Revolution at the end of the 18th century, the watchwords of Democracy have been, Liberty, Equality and Fraternity. It should be possible therefore if we have liberty and all men are equal to elect a government to represent our views. Yet how many voters were asked to give politicians the right to increase their salaries? The only liberty here is the liberty for politicians to use the money of tax-payers to benefit themselves.

Every now and then an election is held and you have the liberty to vote Red, Blue, Yellow and now Purple, while to show the fraternal spirit the candidates vie with one another in kissing babies etc. Once the elected ones get back to Westminster the poor voter has the liberty to see more unemployment, prices rising, more goods made by sweated labour dumped in our land to compete with the products of our labour, our elected representatives show the fraternal spirit again in the lobbies of the Commons. It is surely evident that the thing we know as Parliament must assuredly cover up something very sinister when we find a state of poverty amid plenty.

It has been the purpose of inter-nationalism to foster the so called spirit of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity throughout the last two centuries into this one. The spirit upon which Liberal Capitalism was built, "Each for himself and the devil take the hindmost", for they surely foresaw the time when industrial capital, having beaten itself by competition from both within and without, would dissolve itself in the bankruptcy courts, or be eaten up by the finance capital they themselves control.

Liberty, Equality and fraternity have bought us to the present state this country is in, there is only one alternative and that is to create within our own land the power action of British Fascism. By electing to power by the free vote a peoples government who will act through the corporate state. We must elect a government who will act and not talk, who will use the powers of capitalism, not against the people, but for the good of the State as a whole.

We must create a State in which all will serve that State, and in which all individual interests will be subordinated within that State. We must build up a land in which Britons can be free from the sweated competition of other lands, in which he or she can enjoy the fruits of decent work in a higher standard of living.

If you respect our flag, if you love our country and people, help build this new movement before it is too late and we are all swamped by the powers of internationalists and the degradation of a new slave age. Work with NBU

Officers the representatives of the movement of patriotism and constitutional revolution. Sweep Britain clean from the scourge of sham democracy and its bestial results, and in the place of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity" erect the NBU slogan of "Law, Authority and Prosperity".

Welcome to the Blackshirt, I hope you enjoy reading this issue.

If every member could pass a copy onto just one friend we would double the reach of our message. Getting information to our embattled people remains our main objective and getting onto parish councils is part of that. This issue features an article on parish councils which we hope will encourage readers to get involved in their communities and become part of the NBU's 'quiet revolution'.

THIS FLAME STILL BURNS

Members of NBU North paid a visit to the resting place of Diana Mosley and her sister Unity Mitford. These two brave ladies will always be remembered by British Fascists. Karen from NBU Derbyshire told us "It was an honour to take flowers to the ladies on behalf of the New British Union we should never forget our comrades that went before."

BLACKSHIRT SECURITY

NBU has launched Blackshirt Security an 'unincorporated association' this will be a voluntary 'Manned Guarding' group which is completely legal and covered by the Home Office under 'guarding one or more individuals against assault or against injuries that might be suffered in consequence of the unlawful conduct of others.'

Due to the increase in violence being instigated by the far left against any patriotic movement that disagrees with their Marxist views and in accordance with the law we have implemented our right to defend ourselves and our members from any assault as they go about their lawful business.

As a security group uniform will be worn to establish the difference between ordinary NBU members/supporters and Blackshirt Security. All NBU Officers will be enrolled into Blackshirt security to enable guarding duties to be carried out at future events.

There are 9,000 local councils (parish and town) in England. Over 16 million people live in communities served by local councils, which is around 25% of the population, and about 80,000 councillors serve on these councils. It is calculated £1 billion is invested in these communities every year. Local councils work to improve community well-being and provide better services at a local level.

Their activities fall into three main categories: representing the local community, delivering services to meet local needs, and improving quality of life and community well being.

Local councils can provide and maintain a variety of important and visible local services including allotments, bridleways, burial grounds, bus shelters, car parks, commons and open spaces, community transport schemes, community safety and crime reduction measures, events and festivals, footpaths, leisure and sports facilities, litter bins, public toilets, planning, street cleaning and lighting, tourism activities, traffic calming measures, village greens and youth projects. These existing powers were recently strengthened by powers contained in the Localism Act including the extension of the "General Power of Competence" to eligible local councils

The central function of the Council, the making of local decisions and policy relevant to the public interest of the parish, is performed at the meetings of the Council.

A Parish Council consists of the chairman and not fewer than five elected Parish councillors, and a quorum of the main council committee is at least one-third of the members, or three members, whichever is the greater. Every meeting is open to the public, who are encouraged to attend, except for those items where the Council formally resolves to exclude the public and press on the grounds that publicity would be prejudicial to the public interest. This would have to be due to the confidential nature of the business. This latter also applies to any sub-committee of the Parish Council.

Elections and membership

The term of office of a parish councillor is four years, and council seats are elected by secret ballot. The legislation provides that the number of elected members of a parish council shall not be less than five. Larger parishes may be divided into parish wards, with separate elections for each ward.

A candidate must be at least one of the following:

- A UK or Commonwealth citizen
- Citizen of the Republic of Ireland
- Citizen of another member state of the European Union and candidates must state on their consent for nomination form their qualification for election, which must be at least one of the following:
 - they are an elector of the parish
 - during the whole of the last 12 months they have occupied, either as owner or tenant, land or other premises in the parish.
 - their principal or only place of work is in the parish
 - they live within 4.8 kilometres (3 miles) of the parish boundary.

The chairman of the last council shall remain in office, even if not elected to the newly constituted council, until a new chairman is appointed at the first meeting of the new council.

Uncontested elections

Where there are an equal number or fewer candidates than there are vacancies, all candidates are elected unopposed, and no poll is taken. Where there are fewer candidates than vacant seats, the parish council has the power to co-opt any person or persons to fill the vacancies. This power, however, may only be exercised if there is a quorum of councillors present and within 35 days of the election.

If the parish council fails to fill the vacancies within this period, the district council may dissolve it and order fresh elections. If there is not a quorum elected the district council must dissolve it and order fresh elections.

Contested elections

Where there are more candidates than vacancies, a poll must be held. Undivided parishes, or multi-member parish wards, hold elections under the bloc vote system.

Casual vacancies

If a vacancy occurs during the term of a parish council, it may be filled by either election or co-option.

Elections only occur if, following the advertisement of the vacancy for 14 days, 10 electors send a written request to the returning officer. If no request is received, the parish council will be required to fill the vacancies by co-option. The nomination qualifications required of a candidate for co-option are the same as for those for election.

If the number of vacancies on the parish council is such that there is no longer a quorum, the district council may temporarily appoint persons to bring the council up to strength in the interval prior to an election.

Is internment without trial answer to terror?

Just before the First World War my late dad's cousin from Heage married a German who had settled in that village some years earlier.

He was a law-abiding and hard-working young man and yet at the outbreak of war he was put in Belper jail for a lengthy time. During the Second World War members of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists were imprisoned with no charge, trial or conviction.

Fast forward to 2016. Terrorists all over the world are committing atrocities and have declared they are at war with us. We will never beat them if we carry on fighting according to the Queensbury rules.

In almost every happening of terrorism since 9/11, those carrying it out have been known to the police and security services in the country where the crimes have taken place.

Yet they have been allowed to roam free because Western societies slavishly stick to the notion that however evil people are known to be they cannot be taken out of circulation until there is concrete evidence of their intentions.

The time has come for normal procedures with regard to evidence to be suspended for the duration of the war on terror for the protection of the public. Of course, the liberal human rights lawyers who are growing rich from defending the indefensible will scream blue murder.

But for the courts in civilised countries protecting the public is far more important than upholding the perceived rights of criminals.

Dear member,

New British Union needs your help, we have had many successes in our first four years including getting members on to community, parish and local councils as well as the national youth parliament. The Leader and Officers have attended meetings right across the country during the last four years.

We have had NBU cells out putting up flyers etc from Plymouth to Inverness and days of action in Bristol, Portsmouth, Elgin and London

Gary over the next few months of this year will be working on a documentary for channel 4 attending the Western Spring unity conference the coming Scottish Forum and NBU annual conference.

We are on the right track, membership grows DAILY how many other groups can claim that? For the last four years everything has been paid for out of the leaderships pockets, we all pay for our travel and hotel costs

NOBODY IN NBU CLAIMS EXPENSES how many other groups can claim that?

SO HOW CAN YOU HELP?
Quite simply donate! It is a sad fact of life that for any movement to continue to grow and have more success it has to have money. NBU do not charge membership as a matter of principle, we prefer those that can afford it to make a donation no matter how small whenever they can but the time to help is NOW!

To ensure all the planned events and others go ahead please donate to our fighting fund, every penny will be used to further the fascist cause in Britain, every penny will be another nail in the coffin lid of the political elite as every penny will fund a fascist future!

My country England, I love it because it is my country. I hate its politics because of its leniency to foreigners and those who speak ill of it. There is a quotation which goes, "Oh God make us English again, proud of ourselves, and our language." And never was there a time in English history when it was more necessary for Englishmen, and all patriotic Britons, to unite and fight the sloth of weak-kneed sentiment and sickly appeasement that has crept like a cancer into our homes during the last decades.

Where are the free-born Britons whose forefathers fought and bled for the land of their birth – you will find them in the labour queues. Where are the youth of today – the men of tomorrow? Waiting and rotting away in front of plasma screen and i-phone, losing their manhood, their pride, their respect, and yet whilst we have this terrible unemployment and austerity our governments stand by and allow the sweepings of other countries to come into our country every day.

Where are they going? They won't starve, someone has to suffer in our already overcrowded labour market – who? The answer is only too plain, the British worker.

Let us rise as our forefathers have done before us, unite and cleanse our beloved country of its traitorous political elite, and once again be proud of ourselves, our country, and our language, and whenever we meet, let us grip each other in the strong grasp of Fascist comradeship as we face the struggle together.

The Battle of Stockton

In the 1930's Stockton, like many towns in the North of England, was in the grip of the depression.

Mass unemployment brought about by the 'Wall Street Crash' of 1929 and the Stockton was the site for one of their early attempts to drum up support.

Recognisable by their black shirts, the Fascist organisation echoed many of the sentiments of Mussolini's paramilitaries in Italy and Hitler's National Socialist Street to a spot to the north of the Town Hall where they had planned to hold an open air meeting.

While they had hoped to arrive unannounced, the Blackshirts were surprised to find their plans had been leaked to local Trade Union organisers and members of the Communist party who had arranged a 'reception committee'. It was reported at the time that as many as two thousand opponents of the Fascists had arrived to disrupt their meeting. As Captain Collier tried to address the crowd with a loud-hailer his voice could not be heard above the shouts and boos of the opposition.

subsequent collapse of the markets across the globe was affecting the whole of the country but the North, with its reliance on the traditional heavy industries and shipbuilding, was bearing the brunt. The conditions were ripe for the emergence of a new political movement in the shape of Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists and Party.

On the afternoon of Sunday 10 September 1933 a convoy of coaches arrived at Victoria Bridge, on the Yorkshire side of the Tees. They were carrying more than one hundred Blackshirts from Tyneside and the Manchester area. Led by their propagandist officer, Captain Vincent Collier, they assembled in military order, crossed the bridge and marched up Stockton High

While the political opponents of the Fascists had managed to find out about the Blackshirt meeting, the local police were unaware of their intentions so there wasn't a strong police presence in the area. The few police who were on hand did their best to control the situation and as things started to get out of hand the Inspector on duty ordered Collier and his entourage to break up the meeting and disperse. At this point the crowd were becoming more hostile to the Blackshirts who it seems broke ranks and rushed across to Silver Street in an attempt to protect themselves from the mob.

By this time both sides had armed themselves with a variety of weapons including wooden battens and pick-axe handles. The mob were wading into the Blackshirts who resisted as best they could in the confines of Silver Street with the river at their backs. Missiles were thrown into the Fascists ranks and, as well being hit with rocks and half bricks, the Blackshirts were pelted with potatoes into which razor blades had been fixed (some premeditation there I'm thinking!).

As more police arrived they began to take charge of the situation and were able to separate the warring factions and escort the Fascists back down the High Street to their coaches on the other side of the Tees although some stragglers still had to outrun the mob who followed them all the way.

No arrests were made but a number of the Fascists were injured in the battle, some of them seriously. It was reported that as many as twenty of their number were treated in hospitals in the region that night. One of them, Edmund Warburton from Bury, near Manchester was blinded in one eye as a result of being hit by an object in Silver Street (some reports say it was caused by a rock, others by a deadly potato).

The Battle of Stockton was over with the fascists being routed – although many of those present would find themselves facing Fascist forces again a few years later.

The fascist movements of the early 20th centuries weren't about policy. They were (as Hitler put it) about establishing a different world view, or world concept as he called it, they weren't politicians fighting for their own idiosyncratic tax policy but revolutionaries fighting for a whole new different set of ethics, metaphysics, sociology and anthropology. They were a revolt against the materialistic plutocratic system of the politicians in favour of a healthy organic society and world view.

They fought for a world of honour, strength, duty, sacrifice, unity, hierarchy, quality, culture and so on, as opposed to a world of mindless shekel grabbing formless masses enslaved by deceivers. Hitler denounced any economic or government system as better than the other, and insisted that the fight for the spirit of his people was the most important one, and this is seen in other fascist/third positions authors as well. Their struggle was philosophical and meta-political, not about policy.

If the Right can understand this struggle for the white soul to be as important as the biological preservation of the white race, it will be a direct successor to the fascist movement, regardless of what stances it takes on daily political issues, because it will fight for the same world concept, the world view that our race had when we were great, a world view that is eternal, as opposed to political bickering of politicians which is only temporal and therefore temporary.

Restoring the white society biologically without restoring its soul and establishing the right healthy world concept is useless, and that is something that racist libertarians can't grasp, and that is why they fail.

I have been a member of various nationalist parties and without exception they have all suffered from infighting and leadership conflicts. The main political parties are no different as witnessed by the glorious collapse of the Labour party! The NBU is different, loyalty to leader, comrades and party is paramount to its success. The leadership principle works and works well. In the four years that I have been a member there has been no infighting, no 'branch rebellions', no destructive leadership challenges, no stories sold to the newspapers, no pointless arrests, no financial irregularities. Any one given a role is trusted to get on with it with no interference, the council of ten advise the leader who has the final say on all issues. The whole movement is held together by discipline and loyalty, the Blackshirt also has courage and these three traits together are the reason NBU is the fastest growing patriotic movement in the UK today.

John Ryan – The 4 cornerstones

Integrity

The New British Union Movement has high integrity and we expect this in return. When we talk about integrity we mean set values, methods principals and expectations. We believe the in honesty and have staunch opposition to usury...to corruption and to capitalism. No fat cat should be making money off the backs of honest working people. This includes communist unions and champagne socialists. Having a moral code is part of integrity and we do not depend on the nests of religious vipers hijacking the correct way to conduct our lives. In a nutshell integrity can be summed up as doing the right thing even when there is nobody watching.

Unity

Standing together as one, to have an identity....our black shirt uniform is a symbol of our union. We are all the same there is no rich, poor or privileged Blackshirts. The circle in the "flash and circle" depicts unity, all enclosing no weak points and no corners. Petty arguments continuous power struggles are not in the interest of the individual, movement or the country. Think of all the time, effort, money and lives that have been wasted on so called democracy. The vested powers will always ensure no party shall rule for too long...it is simply not in their interest to allow this to happen. There is power to be gained and money to be made out of constant change and chaos, you know and I know who they are, Unity is strength united we rise divided we will fall.

Everyone wants to be someone, to be a star and they want it now, right now ... what is sad I ask you What is sad is that they do not want to work for it! People will jump ship at the drop of a hat. People changing their votes with their overcoats. Are you one of these people? Or are you honourable? Do you want to be a part of an honourable movement and not a victim of the latest fashion. The New British Union needs honourable people. It is not wealth or ancestry but honourable conduct and a noble disposition that makes men great.

Honour

When we talk about honour in the NBU we are meaning allegiance, respect and more so keeping your word. Perhaps there is too much choice these days with the internet, web media, television which all amounts to subliminal brainwashing by the left wing for the left wing and paid for by you.

Action

We are a movement of action. This does not mean we will blindly or recklessly react to any situation.... as we all know that for every reaction there comes with it responsibility and accountability But make no doubt, do not tread upon us, we will not forget nor forgive. The flash in the circle depicts action. Let's build a people with a can do attitude, a race of winners, pioneers and not left at the gate. Let us go forward and cultivate our culture into a strong fascist system. However bear in mind to make it Your Business To Mind Britain's Business And of course men of action must sterling be.

the BLACKSHIRT FOR A NEW AWAKENING IN THE 21st CENTURY

Fascism

Fascism is neither "Left" nor "Right" but is a synergy of ideas. The 3rd way is totally different to those that currently exist and currently are abusing their power. Yes those existing stale and stagnant systems that are dragging us down and are continuing to drag us all down."Fascism combines the dynamic urge to change and progress With the authority, With the discipline and the order without which nothing great can be achieved", Humans like order, we like direction, we align, we build things straight and we create systems. But there are the capitalists, liberals and communists out there and they require apathy, misery and confrontation to further their aims. They require you the proletariat to be at each others throats in a continual state of strife to ensure division. The division of the people... and we are those people. Do you wish to just live your life as it is or would you rather have a great life, a great country and a great future?

Our so called Masters have lied to us in the past they will continue lie to us in the future there will never be rest in the world because peace is not good business.... and we all know who the players and dealers are who cut and mark the pack. Our Fascist ideology is pure and the fairest system....one you can believe in.

the BLACKSHIRT

FOR A NEW AWAKENING IN THE 21st CENTURY

The object of British Fascism is to set up a Corporate State, this is built on the analogy of the human body which is composed of many millions of cells all working in harmony. The State is composed of many human individuals who ought to be organised together to serve the State as the cells of the body are organised to serve the body.

The members of one industry be they workers or employers should combine together to carry out their function in society as do the cells of the human arm combine together to carry out their function in the interest of the body.

Actually individuals are rapidly losing any sense of fulfilling a basic function for the benefit of the community, under the cover of democracy and the fetish of individual liberty, men engage in making a living by striving and competing against their fellow men to gain a share of the spoils of civilisation. Fascism teaches that this is the wrong attitude to adopt, and is the inevitable cause of the present distress and economic futility.

In order to enable individuals to carry out their proper function in society Fascism intends to reorganise the industrial life of the country under a system of discipline and control with a minimum of interference with private property and established institutions.

Existing industries would be placed under the control of Corporations on which would sit representatives of the employers through their Federations, representatives of the workers through their Trade Unions, and representatives of the consumers these Corporations would then fix fair prices, eliminating cut-throat competition, and fair rates of wages, preventing exploitation.

All these Corporations would be under the control of the National Corporation, to take the place of the present House of Lords, whose duty it would be to direct the various industries to the best interest of the State and of the community. The National Corporation would also fix the national standard of wage rates so that the people could consume the goods they produce.

Undoubtedly in order to set up such a highly organised state of society revolutionary methods would be required, and a temporary dictatorship set up with power to over-ride all sectional interests, especially those of high finance which would resist co-ordination. Once having established the new system, however, all citizens would have the power to take part in developing their particular industry or profession to the best advantage of the State, and would have the right to express their opinion of how best this would be accomplished.

the BLACKSHIRT

FOR A NEW AWAKENING IN THE 21st CENTURY

Not only would they be able to influence public affairs once every few years by general election, but they would be able to have their say in their Trade Unions, Employers Federations, and very much more prominent occasions, and furthermore, a new House of Commons would be instituted on an occupational, in place of a regional franchise People would vote according to their trade or profession, doctors would be represented by doctors, teachers by teachers, builders by builders, in fact a house of experts would be returned, capable of giving advice on every matter of public interest.

In the present state of society, Fascism finds only one great symbol about which it can build up the greater Britain of the future. this symbol is the Crown, Fascism in Britain is loyal to the Queen and Royal Family, because it recognises them alone as standing high above the fractional strife, class war, and the political rivalry of modern existence.

We are grateful indeed that there is one institution in this country about which we can gather our growing effort for the regeneration of our country. An institution which has weathered the storms of political controversy in the past and carries down its glorious tradition of service to the Nation.
